15,000 PEOPLE KILLED BY BIG EARTHQUAKE

FLIERS PICKED UP IN ATLANTIC

Hawker and Grieve, Missing British Aviators, Were Believed to Have Perished.

ENGINE PLAYED OUT

Men Are Saved by Danish Steamer When About 1,100 Miles From Newfoundland and 200 Miles From Coast of Ireland.

London, May 26.—The London Daily Mail, which offered a purse of $50,000 for the first flight by a heavier than air craft across the Atlantic ocean, will give Hawker and Grieve a consolation prize of $25,000.

London, May 26.—Missing for six days and virtually given up for lost, Harry G. Hawker, and his navigator, Lieut. Com. Mackenzie Grieve, British airmen, who essayed a flight across the Atlantic ocean without protection against disaster, are aboard a British warship off the Orkneys.

Hawker has sent the following message from the Revenge to the Daily Mail:

"My machine stopped owing to the water filter in the feed pipe from the radiator to the water pump being blocked with refuse, such as solder, and the like shaking loose in the radiator.

"It was no fault of the Rolls-Royce motor, which ran perfectly from start to finish, even when all the water had boiled away. We were in the water 90 minutes."

Steamer Without Wireless.

Some 1,100 miles out from New Foundland and 800 from the Irish coast, on Monday, May 19, the aviators, making the best of an engine which was failing to function properly, were forced to alight on the water. The little Danish steamer Mary, bound from New Orleans and Norfolk for Aarhus, Denmark, picked the wayfarers up and continued on her northward voyage.

Lacking a wireless outfit, the captain of the steamer was obliged to withhold the good tidings of the rescue until he was assisted by the Rev. Is. where the information was signalled by means of flags, that Hawker and Grieve were aboard.

Word was flashed to the British admiralty, which sent out destroyers to overtake the Danish vessel and obtain confirmation. This was done, and one of the destroyers took the airmen off, and later transferred them to the flagship Revenge.

From this safe haven Hawker sent a message that his machine had stopped owing to the blocking of the water circulation system.

Light Weight Saved Them.

When the airplane sped away from her starting point Pilot Hawker let loose his wheels and under gear, thereby lightening the weight of the machine, but making a possible landing on the soil a more hazardous venture. This, however, probably proved of much advantage when it became necessary to alight in the water. The airplane remained afloat during the hour and a half it took the Danish steamer to come up and effect a rescue.

The one person in England who had always held hope was Mrs. Hawker. She always maintained that providence would protect her man, and, though she received condolences from all classes of people, including the king, she said that she had never ceased to believe that some time and in some way her husband would come back.

EXPLOSIONS IN PETROGRAD

Reds Are Believed to Be Destroying Ammunition.

Paris, May 26.—Interest in the Russian problem, which the council of four is considering at every session, is intensified by the dispatches from Finland announcing that explosions and fires have occurred in Petrograd. This is interpreted as meaning that the Bolshevik forces are destroying their superfluous ammunition, preparatory to retreat southward.

Helsingfors dispatches say the Bolsheviks demand for an armistice from Admiral Kolchak has been refused.

JUMPS FROM BURNING PLANE

Hundreds of Persons See Mail Aviator Killed.

Cleveland, May 26.—Hundreds of persons saw Frank McCusker of New York, pilot of a mail airplane leap 200 feet to his death from a burning machine. Fifteen minutes before he had announced he would attempt to establish a record on his flight to Chicago. The cause of the accident is not known.

H. H. KOHLSAAT

Suggests Senate Interpret Articles in League Covenant.

The American delegation to the peace conference is favorably inclined to a suggestion received in a letter from Herman H. Kohlsaatz of Chicago saying that a movement was under consideration by which the senate would adopt a resolution giving its interpretation of certain articles in the covenant of the league of nations.

GENERALS HOLD POWER

Military Caste Said to Be Supreme in Germany.

Army Authorities Merely Tolerate the Present Cabinet for Lack of One More Suitable.

Zurich, Switzerland, May 26.—According to Dr. Richard Grelling, the author of "J'accuse," who has just returned here from Munich a military oligarchy is being formed in Germany.

The oligarchy is more powerful than the Scheidemann government, he declared, as the government only manages to remain in power with the support of the military caste and of mercenary troops.

"The army created by the government," Dr. Grelling continued, "is well disciplined, well fed and well paid. The government can no longer act as it desires because it can do nothing against the will of the generals who tolerate the present cabinet for lack of a more suitable one. The situation in Germany is developing in a dangerous manner. The military caste is not yet thinking of the restoration of the monarchy, but who can say what will happen later?"

"NOT THROUGH WITH WAR"

Mott Warns of Danger in Prevailing Spirit of Criticism.

New York, May 26.—"We are not through with war yet," was the warning uttered by Dr. John R. Mott, secretary of the international council of the Y. M. C. A., in an address delivered at a luncheon given him by the Methodist Centenary movement. Mr. Mott has recently returned from Europe, where he supervised the work of the Y. M. C. A. in the Allied countries.

WILL PASS ON CHILD ACT

Supreme Court to Determine Validity of Contested Legislation.

Washington, May 26.—Constitutionality of the child labor provisions of the war revenue acts is to be determined by the Supreme court, with which appeals were filed from Federal court decrees in North Carolina, holding that section of the statute invalid. Under the act, an excise tax of 10 per cent is imposed on the products of child labor.

PREACHER O. K.'S CUSSING

Learned Use for Hard Language While Fighting Huns.

New York, May 26.—Private Chester Pierce of Mason City, Iowa, who returned from France on the Santa Teresa, and who dropped his studies for the Baptist ministry to enter the army, said he would resume his education. He admitted that the war had taught him there was a "use for hard language in hard situations."

Eruption of Javanese Volcano Wipes Out Thirty-one Villages

Hawker and Grieve Have Been Rescued

(By United Press)

London, May 28.—Harry Hawker, and McKenzie Grieve, set foot on British soil today nearly a week after they had been given up as lost in their attempt to fly across the Atlantic from New Foundland to Ireland in a Sopwith airplane. The aviators who are the greatest national heroes of the moment, landed at Thurso, Scotland from the British destroyer Revenge. The Revenge took them from the Danish tramp steamer Mary which picked them up in mid-ocean last Monday, May 19th, after they had been forced to descend to the sea 1,100 miles from New Foundland, and 800 miles from the Irish coast. Hawker advised the Daily Mail that he was forced to land because sediment from the radiator clogged the water system on his plane. They were on the ocean an hour and a half and the plane kept them afloat.

American Schooner Burned in Harbor

(By United Press)

Marseilles, May 26.—The five-masted schooner City of Orange, laden with nearly two thousand tons of petroleum, coke and coal, has been afire in the harbor here since last night. The loss of the American ship is estimated at one million dollars. All other ships have been forced to leave port.

Wilson Wires He Will Sign War Risk Bill

Washington, May 26.—President Wilson cabled that he will sign the appropriation bill providing funds for war risk insurance.

Jewish Soldiers Who Joined Civilians in Great Demonstration in New York to Protest Against Reported Massacres in Poland

As a protest against the reported massacres of Jews in Poland, Roumania and other parts of Central Europe, thousands of Jews paraded the streets of New York and later filled Madison Square Garden to overflowing at a mass meeting. In the parade were more than 10,000 Jewish soldiers and sailors not yet out of uniform. This photograph, taken on the East Side, shows several of the banners they carried. One reads, "Stop Killing Jews. We who fought for freedom are getting pogroms in return." Another was "Poland, stop killing." While the parade was on, John F. Smulski, president of the Polish National Department of America, issued a statement disputing the truth of charges made against the Poles.

SENATOR SHEPPARD

Introduces Bill for Enforcement of Prohibition.

Measures for enforcement of prohibition, both under the wartime prohibition act and the constitutional amendment, were proposed in a bill introduced by Senator Sheppard, author of the wartime measure. A commissioner of prohibition, with a force of assistants, is proposed in the bill.

ATTACK MOVING TRAIN

Anarchists Fire on Cars Guarded by Americans.

Three Yankee Soldiers Are Slightly Wounded While Pursuing Reds in Siberia.

Vladivostok, May 26.—The first casualties in the American expeditionary force in Siberia were experienced May 21, when three Americans were slightly wounded.

They were pursuing Bolsheviks who had attacked a running train guarded by Americans 40 miles northeast of Vladivostok at the head of Ussuri Bay in the Maritime province which is seething with disorder and revolt against the authority of Admiral Kolchak.

The attack occurred on the route to the Suchan mines, on the section of the railroad under American protection. When the train was fired on, the Americans gave three hours' chase. Additional American troops have been dispatched to the Suchan district. It is not expected that they will have difficulty in handling the situation, despite reports that the organized bands of Bolsheviks number 10,000. The Americans are operating in the wild and hilly country in extreme wet and foggy weather, but are "carrying on" magnificently.

ACCEPT ROCKEFELLER GIFT

Baptists Secure $2,000,000 On Condition They Raise $6,000,000.

Denver, May 26.—Rejection of proposals for an organic union of evangelical churches, acceptance of the inter-church world movement and the gift of $2,000,000 by John D. Rockefeller for mission work were the outstanding features of session of the Northern Baptist convention.

MAY REQUEST FURTHER AID

Hines Asks Appropriation of $1,200,000,000 for Railways.

Washington, May 26.—In requesting an appropriation of $1,200,000,000 to finance the railroads for the balance of this year and to pay the government's operating loss for sixteen months up to this month, Director Hines said more may be sought later if the government continues to lose heavily in operation.

The $1,200,000,000 is in addition to the $500,000,000 which failed of appropriation when the session ended in a filibuster.

FIGHTING DESERTER FREED

Navy Too Slow for Youth, So He Joined Army.

Chicago, May 26.—Frank Wesley Alice of Springfield, Mo., who admits he deserted the United States navy to enlist in the army, where he saw active service at Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel and in the Argonne woods, under the name of Jack Anderson, will not be punished for violating the rules of the navy.

Word was received from the Navy department at Washington that the charges against him had been dismissed.

GREECE WILLING TO ASSUME TASK

American Delegates Cannot See Their Way to Accept Mandate for Turkey.

ALLIES REMAIN FIRM

Indications Are That They Are Not Yielding Any Material Points in Peace Treaty to Induce German Delegates to Sign.

Paris, May 26.—It is reported in peace conference circles that President Wilson has informed the Council of Four that the other members of the council should be prepared for the United States not to take a mandate for Constantinople or any other part of Turkey.

It has been suggested then that Constantinople either be placed under joint control of the great powers or that Greece be given the mandate for the Turkish capital, with the support of the powers.

Premier Venizelos of Greece has let it be known that he is not urging this plan, but that Greece is ready to assume the mandate if neither the United States nor an international commission is prepared to assume responsibility.

This is interpreted not as the personal inclination of the President against the mandate, but as a precaution in case Congress does not approve of a Turkish mandate.

The reported stand of the President has had the effect of starting two distinct movements with relation to the Turkish problem. The first is to place Constantinople under an international commission in which all the great powers would have a voice, should this not prove acceptable the second plan will be put forward. This plan is based on the assumption that if the rivalries among the great powers of Europe make it inexpedient for Great Britain, France or Italy to take the mandate, to intrust it to Greece with the support of the great powers.

Indications thus far are that the Allied and associated powers are not yielding any material points in the peace treaty handed to the Germans in order to secure the signing of the document, although considerable changes in phraseology and details are being made.

FEAR TURKISH DOMINATION

Armenians Are Opposed to an American Mandate.

Washington, May 26.—Henry Morgenthau's proposal that the United States be made mandatory over Constantinople, Anatolia and Armenia, as reported from Paris, is opposed by Armenians in the United States, it was said in official circles. Their opposition is based on belief that this inevitably would result in the continued domination of Turkey over Armenia.

INDIA REFORM BILL DRAWN

Measure to Be Introduced in Commons Early Next Month.

London, May 26.—The Indian reform bill will be introduced in the house of commons early next month by Edwin S. Montagu, secretary of state for India. The bill will carry out the recommendation of the report made by Mr. Montagu and Baron Chelmsford, the viceroy of India.

PLEADS FOR PARTY UNITY

Senator Borah Asks Republicans to Oppose League.

Washington, May 26.—A plea that the Republican party accept the question of a Peace league as a party issue and oppose as a unit the league covenant was reiterated by Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, in a letter made public.

TWO KILLED IN AIR CRASH

Plane With Flier and Passenger Plunges Into Sandbar.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 26.—Beryl Kendrick, an aviator, of this city, and James Bew, a local real estate agent, were killed when Kendrick's airplane plunged into a sandbar in the inlet at the upper part of the city.

$100 Civil War Claim Allowed.

Bloomington, Ill., May 26.—Coroner James F. Hare of McLean county, Illinois, has just been allowed $100 by the government for a horse which was killed in the Civil war in a battle at Oklawaha, Ala. He had his claim in since 1864.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if Bladder bothers you—Drink lots of water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus preventing bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

SENIORS BANQUET AT THE RANSFORD

Enjoy Sumptuous Meal and Listen to Pleading Addresses of Juniors, Seniors, Faculty

THE BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Delivered Sunday Evening at the High School Assembly Room to a Large Audience

The best way to man's heart is thru his stomach. The Juniors knew how to reach the Senior hearts. A delicious banquet was given at the Hotel Ransford at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. Many Seniors had dined very lightly in the past week to leave plenty of room for a good meal. Their expectations were more than fulfilled.

After the refreshments had been served a program was given, the first number was a cello solo by John Gemmell with Josephine Graham at the piano. Miss Weimar sang two vocal selections with Mr. Beyer as accompanist at the piano.

Harold Opsahl was toastmaster for the evening. He gave the speech of welcome. The Seniors were the butler, the Juniors the cocoon and the members of the faculty birds. The reply was given by the president of the Senior class, Erle Tornstrom, who told about the good times this year and in the name of the Senior class thanked the Juniors and hoped they would have as good a time the coming year as the seniors have had this past year.

The fifth number was a violin duet by Kathleen Gemmell and Alice Johnstone with Mr. Beyer at the piano. The next number was a toast to the Seniors by George Gilbertson, who hoped the Juniors could become as great as the present Seniors. Following his toast was a piano solo by Wilma McFerran. James Mahlum gave a toast to the faculty, he saying the faculty was the "best ever" and seeing that they were birds hoped they would not fly away. He gave the names of the different birds the teachers signified. The following was given by Mr. Cobb:

The Eagle has piercing eyes. He's very strong and wise. He's king and master over all. The other birds, both great and small.

Henry Cunningham gave the other toast for the Seniors. He talked about the cocoon—the Juniors. At first they showed signs of greenness (Freshmen) then they gradually grew larger and became "puffed up" (Sophomores) and now they were ready to burst into butterflies but their wings were not strong as yet.

The tenth number was a saxophone solo by Gladys Trommald with Josephine Graham at the piano. Mr. Scherrieh gave a toast as a representative of the faculty. He said the teachers were much interested in the students and that he has had a very pleasant time this year with the students.

When Mr. Scherrieh had finished his toast a violin and cello duet was given by John Gemmell and Harold Opsahl. The toastmaster called on a few others to give toasts. Mr. Beyer, Miss Tornstrom, Miss Schroeder, Clifford Stoner and Harold Betzold spoke a few words. Mr. Cobb told a little story and compared the Juniors to a dog which was chasing one dog and being chased by another. The Seniors were the first dog and the faculty the one in the rear.

The banquet room presented a pretty scene as it was beautifully decorated in yellow, with the table decorations of the same color. The many colored gowns of the girls added to the brilliancy of the scene.

The banquet was especially enjoyed because it was the first one given in many years.

After the program the banquet broke up and the Seniors voted "Hats off to the Juniors."

His Regret.

One shrewd old farmer who had heard his first lecture on dietetics said if he'd known as much about feeding children as he did about raising for cows and hogs "his family'd have been a heap healthier folks."

Is the Hole in a Doughnut Valuable? Ask These Salvation Army Drive Workers

Even the holes in the doughnuts the Salvation Army has been selling in its drive for $12,000,000 are worth money. June Houghton, champion rifle shot, has capitalized these holes for some thousands of dollars. She is seen here in front of the Public Library in New York City with Major Bastedoo, commander of the Women's Motor Corps. Major Bastedoo said she didn't even have a thrill while holding up doughnuts as targets, because she knew that June Houghton never misses what she shoots at.

WORLD REJOICES

The world rejoices to hear that Hawker and Griegs were rescued in midocean. No news of a battle was more anxiously awaited by the civilized world than tidings from the daring airmen. Had the two not had machinery trouble on the route, they would undoubtedly have made Ireland, having traversed 1100 miles of the 1900 mile flight.

And the patient little wife of Hawker never gave up hope. "I was sure he would come back," she said.

EVIDENT TO ALL

(Cincinnati Enquirer)

The terrible effect of the demon cigarette and the demon vin brand, and the demon beer on our boys who were "over there" was evident to any man who saw the parades of the home-coming heroes. The poor fellows were so husky and full of pep that they could not march more than forty-eight miles at a time and could not eat more than eight meals a day.

DID SEEM LIKE PROFANITY

But Really, Prospective Bride Was Merely Trying to Tell Marriage License Clerk Her Name.

C. M. Kennedy, who issues marriage licenses in Seattle, Wash., is an exceedingly polite and withal a proper young man. When a prospective bride and groom approached his desk recently here's what happened: "That shocked Kennedy."

"Name, please?" said Kennedy to the sweet-faced young thing before him.

"Helmheart Hurts," came the unexpected reply.

"Er—I'm sorry," said Kennedy with a frown. Turning to the prospective groom, Kennedy asked his name, thinking to give the coming bride an opportunity to recover from her evident attack of heart trouble.

"George T. Halliday," said the man.

"And now your name?" said Kennedy to the apparently recovered bride-to-be.

"Helmheart Hurts," she repeated.

"Young lady," said Kennedy severely. "I am a married man and a father, and it grieves me to hear such language from a girl getting a marriage license. If your heart hurts I'm sorry, but profanity is wholly unnecessary."

"What the future Mrs. Halliday is trying to tell you," said the young man, "is that her name is H-e-l-m-h-a-r-t H-u-r-t-s." Kennedy apologized.—Cincinnati Inquirer.

Wireless vs. Wire.

Will all the telegraph and telephone poles, wires and instruments connected with these methods of communication be simply so much "scrap" in a year or so? Representative Steenerson of Minnesota, ranking Republican member of the house post office committee, predicted "Yes," if the wireless now being made in wireless communication continues. Mr. Steenerson, as quoted in The Wireless Age, says:

"Radio communication is the coming thing. It is making such rapid strides that before the end of the year the average American will not be bothering much about the transmission of an ordinary message over an ordinary telegraph or telephone wire as to whether the ordinary telephone or telegraph wire is owned or controlled by government or private interests."

Recent Spanish Inventions.

Recent inventions reported by Carl Bailey Hurst, American consul general at Barcelona, include a straw compound as a substitute for coal for locomotives and agricultural tractors, as it develops sufficient heat in thirty minutes, and the ashes make an excellent fertilizer. This is invented by Joaquin Esteve, the engineer. Another patent is by Thomas Roca of Las Palmas, on a process for the use of banana fibre for textiles, yarns and cords as a substitute for hemp.

HOPE TO SECURE BETTER TERMS

German Cabinet and Peace Envoys Are Said to Have Framed Appeal.

SENDS ANOTHER NOTE

Chairman of Teuton Delegation Insists That Germany's Only Responsibility Is for the Violation of Belgian Neutrality.

Paris, May 26.—Berlin reports persist that the German cabinet and the peace delegates are one in their intention to request modifications on various clauses of the treaty, the provisions of which it is declared Germany will be unable to meet without enslaving herself for a lifetime.

Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau's thirteenth note to the Allied council was delivered. It is a rejoinder to the council's reply to the German note regarding responsibilities.

Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau insists that Germany's only responsibility is for the violation of Belgian neutrality, which it is ready to make reparation for, and declares that all the powers were responsible for the war and that the material damage done was the work of the Allied armies, as well as the Germans.

Thursday is the time limit set for the Germans to make known what Germany proposes to do with regards to accepting or rejecting the peace terms.

Tuesday is spoken of in a Berlin dispatch as the day on which Germany's answer will be ready. The latest note of the Germans—their thirteenth—digs up again the question of responsibilities. Germany asserts that the only thing for which she is responsible is the violation of Belgian neutrality. For this she is ready to make reparation. It is asserted that all the powers were responsible for the war.

The concession with regard to the Saar valley agreed to by the Allies provides that Germany may create a prior charge on her assets or revenue for the payment for the mines in the Saar region if the plebiscite to be held in the region 15 years hence should be in favor of the Germans.

The declaration of the head of the German delegation was embodied in a note addressed to the associated governments represented at Versailles, May 13, and made public at the state department along with the reply of M. Clemenceau.

EXTORTION STORIES ENEMY PROPAGANDA

TALES OF OVERCHARGES BY THE FRENCH PEOPLE ARE SPREAD WITH A PURPOSE.

HAVE SMALL BASIS IN FACT

American Soldiers Were Not Imposed Upon in France Half as Much as in Their Own Country—Victims Could Get Redress.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Washington is taking note of a continuance of what seems to be enemy propaganda in the form of stories, sometimes written, sometimes loud spoken, and sometimes whispered, to the effect that American soldiers like the Germans better than they do the French, and that the French people have been making money out of the doughboys by vicious overcharges for commodities.

The enemy is still keeping up his propaganda work in the United States and he is using gossipy American citizens to do it for him. Some of the French people did overcharge and still are overcharging American soldiers, but one hears of the cases of overcharge while he does not hear anything at all about the general rule in France of moderate charges and of the general amicable relations between our men and the people of France, soldiers, officials and shopkeepers alike.

American soldiers who are returning to the United States, when they get away from the festivities of welcome and the generous treatment which committees give them, soon cease talking about overcharges in France. The cost of living in this country makes the cost of living in France look like the good old days in this land of the free when a man could feed himself and his family and not go bankrupt doing it. Let me speak personally. The French did not charge me half as much for room and board as I have been compelled to pay in a dozen places in this country since I returned, and there are thousands of soldiers who can bear the same testimony.

Congressmen Learn the Truth.

It is to the advantage of the enemy to make it appear that the French did not treat our soldiers right, for this thing would have a bearing on the future relations of the United States with France. Some of the members of congress have been told the truth of the matter, and it may be that later the real facts in the case will get before everybody in the United States.

In some of the cantonnments of this country where our men were trained it was necessary for the commanding generals to interfere between the soldiers and the shopkeepers, for in some of the cities and villages near the camps the soldiers were overcharged more viciously than ever they were in France—and it must be remembered that these soldiers were being misled by their fellow citizens and not by foreigners and strangers.

In France in every village and city where things were for sale the French government posted notices saying that it had come to the attention of the officials that Americans in some instances were being overcharged. Then any soldier who was overcharged was told to report to a French official, who always was near at hand, the amount of the overcharge and the name of the person guilty of it. The French government did all it could to correct the situation and as a result the soldiers who suffered could get redress, and if they did not get it, it was because they did not take the trouble to complain.

Could Buy From Commissaries.

There is another point in this matter which may help to offset the enemy propaganda the intent of which is to make Americans dislike Frenchmen. Almost anything which is necessary for an American soldier to have in France could be purchased at the American commissaries, where the prices were virtually wholesale prices. If you bought anything of the French it was in the way of a luxury or a semiluxury. In other words, you were not compelled to patronize the French merchant in order to get either food or clothing. The government of the United States clothed and fed its own men at government expense.

The government, however, did not feed its officers, but they, like the soldiers, could purchase many things at the commissaries.

The American soldier could go into a small French shop in one of the little villages and if he was tactful it was certain that he would not be overcharged for anything. A little conversation with the shopkeeper, an inquiry after the children, a word as to the state of business and a few pleasant remarks generally disarmed the French proprietor of his overcharge weapon if he had intended to use it. The French like to gossip over their trade.

This matter has been gone into because it has attracted much attention in Washington. There were some American civilians in France who went over after the war was ended and who are back telling tales of overcharges. Some of these persons did not care to go to France while the fighting was on. Now they are pretending to speak for the soldiers. What they are doing, although perhaps unintentionally, is working to the advantage of the Germans whose desire today, as it has been in the past, is to create trouble between the two great republics.

ROAD TO SUCCESS

Obeys General Order No. 1, Which Is Simply, Find Out!

Heads of Big and Little Business, Who Do This, Will Be the Winners in the Great Industrial Battle Now On.

Find out! That's general order No. 1 in American big business.

Can Du Ponts, who made three-quarters of all explosives used against Germany, swing that vast machine into a useful purpose of peace?

It hired 2,000 chemists, set them to research work and found out!

Can the United States double its wheat product and add a half to its meat supply? Spend $25,000,000 in research work along agricultural lines as it did two years ago and find out!

How can Standard Oil utilize every drop of that black ooze which pours from thousands of oil wells? By employing chemists and engineers who can find out.

Why does Armour have 125 subsidiary companies, many of them highly profitable, and which as the elder Armour said utilize every part of the pig but the squeal? Because it spends an immense sum to carry out that general order No. 1 of all big business. Find out!

There are in the United States today 40 concerns, each of which spends anywhere from $100,000 to half a million annually on this great game of finding out, writes "Girard" in the Philadelphia Ledger.

It is the supreme day of the expert, the engineer and the chemist. It is the era of unlimited research work.

Is leather too scarce and expensive? Find a substitute.

Is there a famine in white paper? Set your researchers to discover a new crop.

Two-thirds of all the energy in coal goes up the chimney in smoke. The biggest fuel burners, such as the Pennsylvania railroad, spent big sums to find out a way to lessen the smoke and increase the heat in a boiler.

"Can you take that battery?" asked the general.

"I think I can," replied the colonel. "Go take it," said the commander, "and don't come back until you do."

"Here's $10,000," says the corporation president to his chief of research workers, "find out how we can save a fraction of a cent on each ton of output."

And the fellow who can find out has won a great industrial battle and captured a battery from his more sluggish competitor.

One winter day in his banking office I saw Winthrop Smith hand a silver dollar to his old friend, the magician, Kellar.

"Here, do a trick," said the banker. "Hands are too cold," replied the sleight of hand artist, but taking the coin he flung it into the air and instantly it seemed as if it were raining silver dollars in Kellar's silk hat.

That's how some of the wizards in trade operate. By an apparent stroke of genius they multiply one dollar of profit into nearly a dozen.

"Luck," you say.

Not that at all. It wasn't luck which enabled the magician to manipulate the coins, but years of patient practice and study.

The fellow who thinks he can win in business today without once following the injunction "Find out," had better telephone for the sheriff to nail up his door.

Collecting That Living.

GENERAL REVISION OF TARIFF TO WAIT

REPUBLICANS MAY NOT URGE IT WHILE THE WHITE HOUSE IS OCCUPIED BY DEMOCRAT.

SOME TINKERING EXPECTED

Both Parties Will Be on Their Best Behavior in the New Congress Because Presidential Election Comes Next Year.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—Those of the Republican members of the new house who have stayed in Washington to outline a legislative program seemingly have decided that there shall be no attempt at general tariff revision so long as there is a Democratic president in the White House.

The tariff seemingly is always with us. If there is a high protective tariff legislation is inevitable, and it is just as inevitable when an administration with lower tariff views takes the seat of authority and power. Naturally enough the tariff of one period of times does not fit the conditions of another period, and so even if one party should remain in power through many years there is always going on some kind of tariff revision, or, as some might put it, tariff tinkering.

If the Republicans should pass a new tariff bill at the coming session, and should make it meet in all its provisions the general Republican views on the schedules, the chances are, of course, that President Wilson would veto the bill. So it is apparently the intention of the Republicans in the next congress, in which, of course, they have a majority, simply to make such tariff changes as they believe have some chance of securing executive sanction.

Smoothing Out Party Wrinkles. The Republicans in the new house are trying to iron out the wrinkles of the trouble which has beset their party in the house ever since the first caucus of the Republican membership was held. The Democrats likewise are engaged in an effort to iron the wrinkles out of their own troubles. A great many house Republicans do not like the plans for committee organization, and some of them do not like the party leadership as it has been assigned. Some of the Democrats in the house have formed an organization, or perhaps it might be called a clique, with the object of preventing the selection of Champ Clark as minority floor leader.

It is possible that prior to the convening of the new congress the troubles in both parties may disappear, but it can be taken for granted that they will disappear only temporarily, because friction in both parties always generates before a session has gone long on its way.

The Republicans intend to charge the Democrats with undue extravagance during the periods of their power in White House and capitol. The Democrats, of course, will retort that the war was on and that to win it money had to be spent, and that while more was spent than was necessary there was no way of telling that the extra expenditure was not necessary.

The Republicans probably will try to cut down expenses, and if peace comes and something like stability is the order of things, they probably can cut down expenses. Naturally they will claim credit for doing this, but the Democrats will retort by saying that peace does not cost as much as war, and that the decrease in expenditures therefore is due to conditions and not to anything which the Republicans have done.

Warned to Behave Themselves.

There is to be a presidential election next year. The Republicans in congress have been warned by their leaders that they must walk a legislative tightrope at the next session, and must do nothing to jeopardize the interests of the party in November, 1920. The Democrats have been told by their leaders that they must follow a plan of constructive opposition to Republican legislative endeavors; that they

LAKE REGION LIBRARY CLUB

Opened Two Days' Session in Brainerd This Afternoon at the Public Library

J. A. WILSON WELCOMED THEM

Public is Cordially Invited to the Meeting at Elks Hall at 8 o'clock This Evening

Arriving in the city today for the Lake Region Library Club meeting were Miss Seavey, of Aitkin, librarian, of Aitkin; Miss Clara F. Baldwin, of St. Paul; Mrs. Jennie Lind Blanchard, of Little Falls, president of the Lake Region Library Club; Mrs. Marie E. Brick of St. Cloud, secretary-treasurer of the association; Mrs. Margaret McCord, of Alexandria, vice president; Miss Ethel S. McCubrey, of Moorhead; Miss Amy A. Lewis and Miss Jane Featherstone, of Fergus Falls; Miss Jean U. Stewart, of Wadena; Mrs. F. J. Guest, of Wadena. Little Falls members will motor to Brainerd this evening.

Prof. J. A. Wilson, who made the address of welcome to the delegates and friends of the association and who is president of the local board, assured them that Brainerd welcomed their presence and hoped they would find their meeting here one of great profit as well as recreation.

He said the meeting at Elks hall was for the public in general and hoped all Brainerd would turn out this evening to attend the same.

Baccalaureate Exercises

Baccalaureate exercises were held at the high school auditorium last night. Rev. J. J. O'Mahoney gave a very eloquent and inspiring address to the graduating class, in which he impressed upon them that each person had in his own conscience the luminary to lead him on to righteous living. He adjured them to lead pure, virtuous lives and to hold fast always to the principles of Christ's teachings. He spoke to the crowded assembly room. Rev. Frederick J. Errington gave the invocation and benediction.

In addition the following music was rendered:

March of the Seniors—Miss Cronk and orchestra.

"Onward Christian Soldiers"—Assembly.

Vocal solo—Ethel Thomas, violin accompaniment by Kathleen Gemmell.

Song, "Praise Ye the Father"—High School Glee Club.

Hymn—Assembly.

BRAINERD MAN IN ACCIDENT

Stops His Car Suddenly on Little Falls Highway and Car to Rear Bumps Into Him

(Little Falls Transcript)
As Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dubbels of Belle Prairie were coming toward this city Saturday night they became involved in an automobile accident which resulted in painful injuries to Mrs. Dubbels.

Mr. and Mrs. Dubbels and their little daughter were in the car and a short distance ahead of them a car driven by a Brainerd man and with two ladies as passengers was also coming toward the city. When the cars were about a mile north of Little Falls, the Brainerd car suddenly stopped in the middle of the road, according to Mr. Dubbels, and he was unable to avoid striking it. Mrs. Dubbels, in attempting to save her little daughter from falling out of the car, bent forward and was struck across the nose by the edge of the windshield. A very deep cut was inflicted, besides minor injuries.

The Brainerd man gave Mr. Dubbels his address before leaving and brought the family to this city where Mrs. Dubbels' injuries were attended to by a physician. The radiator of the Dubbels car was badly smashed and the back of the other car was considerably damaged.

WHY SPRINKLER DON'T SPRINKLE

C. M. Fox, the man who has sprinkled Brainerd streets, says the reason no sprinkling has been done this season is because all business men have not signed up for the work. He has charged 35c a door. To date the signers were so few that Fox computed that after paying help, upkeep, horse feed, etc., he would have the munificent sum of $18 clear at the end of a month to take care of himself and a big family. He said several property owners objected when he suggested raising the 35c rate to meet the stringent situation. In the meantime the high winds continue to scatter dust indiscriminately.

IN HOT WATER

Wm. Graham and Grandelmyer Hat Shop Damaged by Burst Hot Water Pipe

To be in hot water is no nice predicament, but that is what happened to two tenants in the Ransford block. A hot water pipe burst on a floor above and sent a stream of scalding fluid to the main floor where Wm. Graham has a music store and the Grandelmyer hat shop is located. Musicians of the city estimate Mr. Graham's damage all the way from $600 to $800. Pianos, sewing machines and other stock near the walls received the full force of the hot water and when a member of the company came to the store, said Mr. Graham, there was six inches of water on the floor.

The Grandelmyer hat shop also sustained losses to stock.

Now that our county nurse has been in the field for a month I think the board will be interested in knowing what progress the nurse has made and what method we have employed in handling the situation.

Fortunately for us, her initial day's work was under the guidance of Dr. E. J. Huenekens at one of his "Baby Clinics" here in Crosby. His expert advice and the fact the nurse was given important "follow up" work to do at once started us at a quicker pace than we should have been obliged to use had we done our own "pioneering." So far we have been able to maintain this speed, as we have met with no opposition and we can only hope that our splendid beginning is not indicative of the usual slow ending.

At the advice of Dr. Huenekens we placed an office at the disposal of Miss Garrison, the nurse, both in Crosby and in Ironton where she is available all day, one day a week. These two towns were given the "stationary method" because our school nurse has the field here and it was understood that we would be freeing Miss Garrison to cover ground where she was much more needed. As far as Crosby is concerned this plan has not proved successful, with Ironton it has been fairly so. It will be necessary I think for Miss Garrison to cover these towns making a house to house canvass as she started doing for our more recent clinic in Ironton. The urgent cases need searching for.

In Cuyuna where the nurse began her actual "field work," she covered the town, visiting each house or home, keeping a record of each individual case and then examined each child in the local school. She employed the same methods in Irondele (Crosby Beach), Trommald, Manganese, Wolford and Pershing. In the latter four, however, she started in the school and worked out in the field thereby eliminating much useless visiting.

The cases resolve themselves quite automatically into classes, i. e., Cases for the Child Welfare board—Defective, dependent, neglected children, widows pensions, etc.

Cases for local charity—Preventable poverty, indolence, ignorance, misfortune, etc.

Cases of "follow up" work—Illness, faulty feeding, unsanitary conditions, tuberculosis, etc.

I think satisfactory results are obtained by our county nurse and this month they have been most satisfactory. In the nurse's official capacity she is able to convince the local councils in each instance of the importance of the work.

She has proved this point, as the local charity cases have in each case been handled at once (within the week at least.) What the Child Welfare board has done with the cases she has reported you are in the best position to know; and of course the "follow up" work is yet to come.

That instruction in the home is necessary is shown by the fact that the chief deficiencies come from lack of air and light, and lack of proper food, for most of the cases are poor vision, tonsils infected, tuberculosis, mal-nutrition and faulty breathing.

In regard to the actual "day's work" and its resultant expense, here also we are peculiarly fortunate. By making her headquarters at Crosby she has been able to reach all but two of the towns in our district by using the "bus" or the school conveyance on regular schedule. Since her lunches are included in her expense account, and since we deemed it wise to send her to St. Paul for the Child Welfare board meeting you will, I think, agree with me that the first month's transportation is fairly reasonable as it stands at $41.95.

As to records of work done each individual case is recorded and a separate space is allotted for "follow up" work. Also each item of expense is recorded, the whole to be submitted for your approval, either at stated intervals or at any time you may request. Also a record of each school child examined is left on file in the school.

So far 850 cases have been visited and this does not include the work done at the clinics where 191 cases came under examination. The "school inspection" has been completed in Cuyuna, Crosby Beach, Trommald, Manganese, Wolford and Pershing.

In covering the county I would suggest that the plan made by Deering wood is the best submitted, that is, having given a specified amount they request so many visits; visits in their cases to be proportional to amount contributed and at reasonable intervals to make "follow up" work practical. For instance having contributed $100 a year they request four visits from the nurse. Such a schedule carefully planned will eliminate any possible friction and keep the nurse in "perpetual motion" without undue stress.

I am sending under separate cover several blanks from which I think the committee may select a suitable record sheet for the work in our county.

We consider this month's work quite ideal. How could it be otherwise beginning and ending with Dr. Huenekens' clinics and with all things working together, as they have, to help the nurse "carry on."

Very respectfully yours,
Harriet Van Bergen Deering,
County Chairman,
Children's Year Work.

CLASS HISTORY

(Mildred O'Brien, Brainerd High School Senior)

Can it be possible that only four years ago we entered high school? Sometimes it has seemed more than possible then again the time has passed all too quickly. At first we Freshmen were unusually afraid of Mr. Dennison but after a few days we felt as if we had known him forever and timidity was the least of our worries.

It has been a hard task to keep our class on the straight and narrow path. Two of us have become tired of the quiet city life and have moved to more "peppy" towns on the range. Three have found city life too fatiguing and have returned to the quiet life of the country. Two have married and gone to large cities. While some few have considered B. H. S. not good enough for them and have gone to boarding schools. Still we have the brilliant and enthusiastic ones left.

During the Freshman year the older classmates took a peculiar delight on special occasions, usually program days, in clapping the Freshmen when they passed to their seats. They were over-triumphant when they succeeded in embarrassing us blushing Freshmen.

Modest and timid, silent, demure, Feeling our way, not always sure, But ready for all the good we had dreamed.

This is the way we Freshmen seemed. In 1916

The next year we took the same delight in teasing the succeeding Freshmen—forgetting our former dislike of it—but—forgetfulness is heavenly! In our Sophomore year we showed the school what marvelous talent our class possessed, thrilling them as John Peters, Mary Hughson, Clover Sablin and other had thrilled us. From the time of our first program we have always given better programs than any preceding class has given or any succeeding class can ever give. I say this most modestly.

Craniums big, crammed full of conceit, Larger heads one would seldom meet, With lots of knowledge we were stuffed, And thus our Sophomore heads were puffed. In 1917.

Talking has always been our favorite pastime, Rae Hannaway proving the best adapted to this line. Even though we proved to be such splendid talkers, we never could understand why Mr. Dennison employed a little red book and jotted our names down whenever we talked. Beware of little red books, say we! Miss McKinney also strongly disapproved of our talking and by the end of the year almost succeeded in having the whole dictionary copied for her.

We proceeded into our Junior year though I sorrowfully say that several of us became so attached to the sophomore seats that they absolutely refused to travel our sad way with us but remained behind. We never have been able to discover whether it was the splendid view of the hall by which they could discover an unexpected arrival of Mr. Dennison or well—let's just pass over the embarrassing part.

For many nights we burned the midnight oil, racking our brains how we could successfully entertain the Seniors. Finally we decided on a Japanese party which was the most royal entertainment any class has received—naturally. We only hope that future Juniors will do as well—especially this Junior class. Then as usually school closed. How cruel!

School life went on with song and dash, We had our games, we took a splash In the social whirl, we won a place, In all events, he it game or race, In 1918.

The next year we came back Seniors! We had a new principal and we were running in all directions trying to get a good view of him. We immediately voted him a good scout and he surely succeeded in making our Senior year as jolly as it has been.

Jolly? We should say so! We have lived up to our title wonderfully. Why the under classmen have never had such excellent training as they have received from us this year. Never! We congratulate ourselves heartily on this point.

This year has been full of events from the very beginning. Picnics, a taffy pull, suppers, a Valentine party, a hike to Weiss's which good time we shall never regret. We have become tremendously wise and hope the future classes will reach the same wisdom. We have learned to love and respect our teachers, not to talk, chew gum during school and oh! everything!

Speaking of gum reminds me of the epidemics which have struck our class. First, the mumps, then smallpox, vaccination, next the flu, but of more recent date the gum-chewing epidemic has become the most fatal. Far be it from me to mention names but I refer to Clifford Stoner. Ask him if gum isn't just awful good.

One day this year has been all too short for us. The day of the Junior candy sale. Oh! what a day! Mr. Sherlock was just peachy to everyone. We ate, drank and were merry and had the finest time ever. But alas, all fine times must end.

Our class play—how could I forget it! I need not enumerate how wonderful it was for as long as the memory of Bobby, Phyllis, Celia and Col. Smith last it will last.

One word of advice to the Juniors. The basket ball pennant now adorns our wall. We hope it will continue to remain there as a remembrance of our team's victories in athletics.

It does seem sad that we have to leave old Brainerd high and we will miss you and hope you miss us. Of course some of us are taking it so seriously that we have not entirely decided to do so. So we must say farewell and may you always remember the Seniors of '19.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the Motorist

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana), as a public servant, interprets its obligation to the 2,000,000 motorists in the territory it serves as reaching beyond simply supplying them with gasoline and lubricating oils.

The Company feels that it falls short of its full duty, if in the manufacture of gasoline and lubricating oils the elements of economy, efficiency, dependability, and protection are not inherent in every gallon.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) requires of its products, that, in addition to furnishing dependable power and lubrication the car investment of the motorist must be protected—his repair bills must be minimized—the life of the car must be prolonged.

Every frictional surface must be conserved. The engine must respond instantly in emergencies. The motorist must get every possible mile out of every gallon of Standard Oil gasoline which he buys.

To make these products as available to the 5-gallon buyer as to the 500- or 5000-gallon buyer, the Company maintains 1300 service stations conveniently located throughout the territory.

The Company realizes that its interests and those of the motorist are a unit—tangible and concrete.

Intelligent self-interest impels the Company to safeguard every product it manufactures and distributes that it may at all times give to the motorist the utmost of value and service.

GREAT NUMBER OF BOOKS GIVEN ARMY

FINE WORK DONE AND STILL KEPT UP BY THE LIBRARY WAR SERVICE.

READING FOR ALL SOLDIERS

Good Effects Noted as Fighters Return to Civilized Life—Attempts to Introduce Enemy Propaganda Were Very Successfully Combated.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—The American Library association, through its library war service, with headquarters in this city, still is hard at its work of supplying the men of the armed service of the United States with proper reading matter. The work is directed from Washington by George B. Utley, who it is conceded has done a hard task commendably well.

Americans probably have no conception of the enormous number of books which have been supplied to the men of our camps in this country, and in the American expeditionary forces on the other side. Everywhere that our troops are stationed, even up to the very front lines, the men have been and are still being given good books to read, and it has been a task to keep the supply equal to the demand, but success has been attained.

The effects of the work of the library war service already are being felt in the civilian life of the United States to which our soldiers rapidly are returning. Library statistics show that previously fewer men than women and children drew books from the libraries of the country. In fact, comparatively speaking, the men were not great readers. Since the return of soldiers from Europe and their discharge from the service, there has been an enormous increase in the demands on the libraries for reading matter from men of the classes who three years ago rarely entered a library. It can be seen from this, therefore, that the war has had its important educational effect in the United States.

Demand for Technical Books.

One of the most striking signs of the times is that the young men who are returning from the trenches to go into the ordinary walks of life are applying in great numbers to the libraries for books on technical subjects in which they became interested through the books which they read while they were abroad. It is reported that in one day at one library a hundred returned soldiers asked for books on technical subjects, saying that they wished to continue to study, with a view to bettering themselves, certain technical subjects in which they had become interested through reading while engaged in soldier duty on the other side.

The American soldiers in Russia, fighting the bolsheviks, are supplied with reading matter through the library war service; the soldiers in Italy get their books from the same source; our soldiers in England, the soldiers in Germany, and the soldiers still on the long drawn former battle line in France and Belgium still get their books, and still profit by the work of the American Library association.

Enemy Propaganda Scotchd.

Censorship of books when our soldiers first went into camp was necessary. Enemy agents were active in the United States, and it is known that they still are active. Nothing could suit the Hun better than to get into the hands of American soldiers books which would make the reader inclined favorably to the suggestion of a Germanized civilization, or to put him into a frame of mind to palliate German offenses. It is understood that at times strong efforts were made through subterfuges and evasions to get improper reading matter into the hands of our soldiers. In nearly every

Down River Town Makes a Tremendous Spurt in the Eighth Inning and Puts Game on Ice

HIER STRUCK OUT 13 MEN

Had Two Assists, Lammed the Ball for Three Hits—But Breaks did Not Come Brainerd Way

Little Falls made a tremendous revival in the eighth inning, nailed four runs and tucked the Brainerd-Little Falls game 10 to 5 on ice and went home the winner in the match game played Sunday afternoon at the Koering grounds.

It was a game which pleased the average fan, that is everything except the final result. There was wagon-loads of hits, bushels of two-baggers.

Lefty Hier of St. Paul, just back from the battle fields of France and grabbed by Brainerd as a first string pitcher, had an awful jinx to combat. He pitched his best, struck out 13 men, got two assists and lammed out three hits in four times to bat. Under ordinary circumstances that alone would have won a game. But the breaks were with Little Falls, which with eleven hits at most opportune times, garnered in the runs and the big end of the day's receipts.

Brainerd's artillery made a good showing. Benda scored two two-base hits. Sheffo got two good hits in four times to bat. Everybody was hitting Sundstrom of Little Falls and when the fatal seventh was about due, the down river town wisely withdrew its first flinger and stuck him in right field after he had been rapped for eight hits, and put in Miller.

The attendance was very good, much better than the Crosby-Brainerd game of May 18. Umpires Hall of Brainerd and Ball of Little Falls gave good satisfaction, the only discussion being about an overthrow in the eighth which permitted Wessel to score. However, nobody walked off the diamond when that point was discussed.

The League season opens Memorial Day afternoon and it is expected to have Mayor Little throw the first ball and to have the band play. Lefty Hier will have gained sufficient practice by that time and familiarized himself with the locals to give a victorious account of himself.

case where these attempts were made they were frustrated.

In the first instance the library war service did what it could, in every instance and in every locality where the books were assembled, to make a thorough examination of the subject matter in each book to determine definitely that no propaganda was contained therein, and that the American soldier was not being approached through his reading mind by the subtleties of a false German philosophy, or by the "lies for a purpose."

Occasionally a book would be found in a camp library which it was known ought not to be there. Such a book instantly was removed, but when one considered that millions of volumes were furnished for the use of the soldiers the fact that one or two such books found their way through to the camp library shelves can be a matter of no surprise. In fact, the wonder is that the poisonous German stuff so successfully was stopped in its progress toward the readers' hands.

It perhaps cannot be too strongly said that one of the great works which the American Library association through its library war service has done is to create a great body of young men readers of books worth while.

ST. CLOUD DROPS OUT OF LEAGUE

Charles Sylvester, president of the Central Minnesota Baseball League, has received word that St. Cloud will not have a team in the league this season.

The reason given by the St. Cloud management is that owing to a lack of backing by the business men of the city, funds cannot be raised for a team. It is very much regretted among fans that St. Cloud has made this decision, as that city was expected to put one of the strongest teams of the league in the field, owing to its population and resources.

This will mean six teams in the league instead of seven, and the schedule committee will again have to change its plans for arranging dates.

BALLS AND BUNTS FROM THE DIAMOND

The Pine River Sentinel-Blaze reports that Pillager beat Pine River 5 to 4. The ninth inning was described as a turbulent affair. This paragraph reviews the work of the Pillager ump: "Chris Iverson laid one down on the first base line and beat it to the initial bag. Zigmund and Ostby both fanned, and during that time Chris stole around to third. Elner Iverson was at bat, and for fear that he might hit the ball an score Chris, the Pillager umps called everything strikes, for after nine solid innings of practice he was now able to count everything a strike that did not go over the backstop. Chris sized the situation up very quickly and led off third and drew the ball and scored when the third baseman threw it away. By this time the Pillager umps were pretty mad, so the next ball pitched, although it breezed through Elner's shoestrings, was a strike and the side was out.

Optimistic Thought.

Any fool knows how to resist, but it is the province of a wise man to know how and when to submit.

REDS LOSING HEART

Peasants and Workmen Are Deserting Anarchist Cause.

Russian and Allied Offensive in Siberia Is Producing the Desired Results.

Omsk, May 26.—The general staff of the Siberian army has received reports indicating disintegration of the morale of the bolsheviks.

Mobilized working men and peasants are deserting and the bolshevik commissaries are reported to be disheartened, many of them declaring they are ready to flee from Russia.

Siberian newspapers print resolutions adopted at recent peasant meetings in the district of Samara. The peasants decided to expel all with bolshevik sympathies, to organize special peasant detachments to fight the bolsheviks and to arm all men between 18 and 50.

The bolshevik organ, Nash Put, acknowledges that it is impossible to stop the Siberian offensive, saying: "The army against us is more powerful than the army we had to face last year. In spite of our efforts the army moves swiftly toward the heart of our positions."

The Advertisements Have Something to say to You

If a merchant or manufacturer could gather 5,000 or 10,000 or 100,000 prospective buyers into a large auditorium and talk to them daily—by word of mouth—he would have no need of advertisements. But he cannot.

So he puts his words in type and talks to these same prospective buyers each day in the printed messages that you know as advertisements.

In this newspaper today you will find many such personal messages from merchants and manufacturers.

Some are large and some are small. They cover a wide range of subjects. They are worthy of your careful reading.

No merchant or manufacturer would spend his good money advertising if his merchandise were not of good quality and fairly priced. It wouldn't pay!

Don't miss the advertisements. They'll save you money.
